

Online Resources to Support Ontario's Developmental Surveillance Initiative

Best Start Resource Centre Annual Conference, February 7, 2018

Dr. John Cairney
Dr. Anthony J Levinson

Machealth

An initiative out of McMaster University, Machealth is a destination for Canadian healthcare professionals that hosts free online certified programs, resources and communities.

Available at machealth.ca

Developmental Surveillance Initiative

An introduction to developmental surveillance and the Early Years Check-In - a new approach to help parents identify concerns related to their child's development.

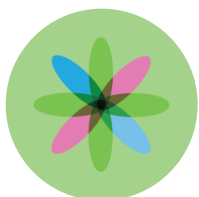

Available at dsi.machealth.ca

Play&Learn

Games and activities that have been reviewed by child development experts and scientifically proven to help children aged 1.5 - 6 improve skills related to important developmental domains.

Available at playandlearn.healthhq.ca

Ontario's Enhanced 18-Month Well-Baby Visit Program

Developed by experts in child development, this program provides professionals access to certified e-learning related to Ontario's Enhanced 18-Month Well-Baby Visit.

Available at 18monthvisit.ca

Ontario's Enhanced 18-Month Well-Baby Visit Planner

An online discussion aid that helps parents and guardians of toddlers think about their child's development and uncover topics that they wish to discuss with their family's health care provider.

Available at myvisit.ca